54th Annual Meeting of the German Association of Phlebology
Invitation for members of the Baltic Society of Phlebology

Dear

I am honored to invite you and your colleagues to our 54th Annual Meeting of the German Association of Phlebology from 19.-22. September 2012 in Lübeck, Germany.

The theme of our congress will be „classic and modern“. These two terms symbolize the fact that diagnostics as well as the therapy of phlebological diseases went through immense changes and developed quickly in recent years. This could not have been possible if it were not for the recognition of these “classical” aspects.

The scientific program focuses on the importance of phlebology in different medical disciplines, respectively in the according residencies.

With this in mind we especially would like to address and invite the young colleagues, whom are currently in their residency period, to our meeting. We offer an advanced training forum on each congress day to any phlebology-newcomers.

All interested residents receive the opportunity to apply for travel awards through our congress-homepage (www.dgp-luebeck.de). The participation fee will be reduced (100 Euro) for members of the Baltic Society of Phlebology.

I look forward to seeing you there.

With best regards,

PD Dr. med. Birgit Kahle
Congress President
